Study Ecosystem Science and Biogeochemistry

Study environmental science in an array of ecosystems with researchers at one of the world's premier centers for biological research and education! The Semester in Environmental Science is a hands-on semester of courses taught in beautiful Woods Hole by some of the field's top scientists. You'll study ecosystem biogeochemistry and biology of coastal bays, ponds, wetlands and forests of Cape Cod. Information Session and Lunch: Tuesday, Nov. 18 in Fernow 304 at 12:15pm or Wednesday, Nov. 19 in Corson E435 (Fern Room) at 12:15pm. Interested? Contact: ses@mbl.edu. Applications due March 25 for the fall 2009 semester.

Cornell Plantations Internships

Interested in a summer internship with the Cornell Plantations? If the answer is yes, submit your resume via the Cornell Plantations Website. This internship program is open to freshmen through seniors.

Strategies for Finding an International Internship

A panel of students who successfully completed an overseas internship will discuss the details of the job hunt: when to begin looking, where to look, which resources, what skills are required (language, other), how to get a work permit and more. They will also share experiences on cultural adjustments and challenges for students working internationally.

Date: Wednesday, November 19, 2008

Time: 5:00 pm - 6:00pm

Location: The Barnes Hall Auditorium

Our panelists recently returned from exiting experiences in a variety of career fields and countries: Government/The Dept of State, Engineering, Business/Banking, Nonprofit, Women's Advocacy, Teaching English, and Research.

Countries: China, Greece, Latin America, Thailand, Hong Kong, and India
